MEMORANDUM

To: Pregnant Working Women Who Are Required to Wear Suits

Cc: Pregnant Women Invited to Weddings; Pregnant Women Who Live in Inclement Weather

From: DailyCandy Kids

Subject: Your Wardrobe

Effective immediately, your burgeoning belly will no longer limit your ability to dress in materials other than stretch viscose. Mine for Nine, a new online rental shop for maternity wear, provides you with access to well-made, hard-to-find clothes for limited-term engagements (i.e., before you go up a size).

Please be advised that blowing your budget on a suit that will last two months is not recommended. Instead, rent separates from the likes of Maternal America, Séraphine, Hatch, and Ripe Maternity for as little as $11 a month. All of the pieces have been measured to ensure a flattering fit.

For those of you anticipating the need for a winter jacket, Mine for Nine also rent coats for one-to-three-month cycles, as well as formal attire for galas, weddings, and other occasions that require squeezing swollen feet into high heels without the numbing effect of multiple cocktails.

Available online at minefornine.com.

What We're Reading

Oh Happy Day

Jordan Ferney's blog is an absolute delight. The party planner mom of two (who recently packed up her fam and moved to Paris for the year, le jealous sigh) has relaunched her beloved site, which is chockful of DIY projects, party ideas, and pretty curiosities. She even shares her go-to party secret with us: the element of surprise.
