

Mine For Nine Designer Maternity Clothing Rental Website Review

October 1, 2011 by Roxanne

Leave a Comment

Filed under fashion, product reviews, women

When I was pregnant, I was so excited to go maternity clothes shopping for the first time! Upon entering the store I realized finding the right clothing would not only be difficult, but expensive. With most clothes costing at least $30 and the nice clothes up in the $100 range, it's almost unaffordable for most people. For those of us who love fashion, but can't afford designer maternity clothes or who don't want to purchase clothes they will only get to wear for 9 months, there is now the perfect solution: Mine For Nine!

About Mine For Nine

There's a smart, new way to shop for stylish, make-you-feel-good maternity clothes. It's called Mine for Nine, and it's one of those revolutions that your best friend and sister will say "I wish they had that when I was pregnant." MINE offers pregnant women an alternative to purchasing an expensive maternity wardrobe or supplementing the one they already have. Find the perfect business suit for that important business meeting or a spectacular evening gown for the black tie affair you were just invited to. And when you're done, no need to store clothes you may or may not wear again — just ship them back.

Mine for Nine carries current, trendy designers from around the world that maybe you could get if you visited all the little indie shops . . . from Austin to Australia. But when you're getting ready for a baby, who has time to drive to the mall to scour the racks of some overpriced national chain? And your boutique shopping time is dominated with outfitting the nursery — there's no time to get cross town to that specialty maternity shop (that would blow your budget anyway). That's where Mine for Nine comes in: We bring hard-to-find maternity designers to your fingertips (think Ripe Maternity from Australia, Seraphine from England and Maternity from California), and you can borrow the size you need now (not what your changing figure will need in a few months!) — at a fraction of the cost to purchase.

Plus, to take the guesswork out of what size you need to borrow, we have measured all the clothes. Just click on the "Tips for a perfect fit" and you'll be able determine which size will most flatter your figure right now.

My Thoughts

Both of my sister-in-laws just had babies and also struggled to find fashionable maternity clothing to wear to work and for special occasions. When I heard of Mine For Nine, I fell in love with the concept and thought it ingenious. Why didn't I think of that? I couldn't wait to give their clothing service a try.

I received a $50 credit and ended up renting 2 beautiful shirts from Mine For Nine! My order arrived only about 2 days after I ordered and I couldn't wait to try on my new tops. I received an Elastic Shearing Top by Maternal America for only $22 a month, which is awesome! It usually retails for $87 and is gorgeous. This shirt is unbelievably comfortable and form-fitting to show off those adorable pregnant belly months. I love the detail on the shirt and that it is sewn diagonally, which really adds an overall elegance to the clothing. It can be worn casually or with slacks or a skirt to dress it up a bit. This is my favorite shirt!

I also received a Ring Top by Maternal America in Beige for only $18 a month ($71 retail price). The shirt has an asymmetrical neckline with an O-Ring, which makes this a stylish and sophisticated shirt. It, too, is super-soft and comfortable. It's something I could wear around the house or wear out on the town! I love that both of these tops are so versatile.

I love both of these tops and think they are some of the best, most comfortable maternity shirts I've ever worn! They are also the most expensive maternity shirts I've ever worn. I love that Mine For Nine allows us to not only feel as beautiful as we ladies should while pregnant, but we also get to try designer clothes we may not have been able to purchase otherwise. In addition, you have such a variety of clothing, in all different colors, styles, and sizes, so you can size up as the belly grows, try new looks, and just have a great time looking beautifully pregnant!

I highly recommend Mine For Nine and think it's something all pregnant ladies should try out. Treat yourselves to some beautiful designer maternity clothing.

This post was written for Mine For Nine who provided the complimentary order in exchange for my honest review.